

The Stauer Survival Box contains:

- Carabiner watch: The carabiner watch can be used to keep track of time and to clip the Survival Box to your belt or backpack. (SR626SW battery included)
- Flashlight with 3 different settings. Takes AA batteries (not included)
- Multi-tool that includes below functions:
 - Cutting: The knife can be used to cut wood, food, and other materials.
 - Prying: The pry bar can be used to pry open objects, such as cans or boxes.
 - Screwdriver: The screwdrivers can be used to tighten or loosen screws.
 - Pliers: The pliers can be used to grip objects, such as wires or nails.
 - Wire cutting: The wire cutter can be used to cut wire.
 - File: The file can be used to sharpen objects, such as knives or tools.
 - Bottle opener: The bottle opener can be used to open bottles.

The Stauer Survival Box is a safe tool to use. However, it is important to use it with caution. Always wear safety glasses when using the knife or wire cutter. Do not use the tools for any purpose other than their intended use.

If you have any questions, please contact Stauer customer service at 1-888-333-2012.

California residents WARNING: This product can expose you to chemicals, including Chromium, Nickel, and/or Lead, which are known to the State of California to cause cancer and birth defects or other reproductive harm. For more information go to www.P65Warnings.ca.gov.

NOTE: To adjust the time or change the battery, the watch must be detached from the carabiner.

To adjust time:

1. Once the watch is detached from the carabiner, remove the plastic ring from the case.
2. To activate the watch, gently remove the plastic crown protector.
3. Before securing the crown, rotate it clockwise to set the hands to the desired time.
4. Once the correct time is displayed, firmly press the crown back into its original position.
5. Reattach the transparent plastic ring to the watch case.
6. Secure the watch back onto the carabiner.

To adjust time:

We recommend that you take it to a qualified professional to have the carabiner watch battery replaced. Attempting to replace the battery yourself could void the warranty on your watch and could also damage the watch.

